

The Candy Cane Mystery

Someone stole the stripes from all of the candy canes. But who? . . .

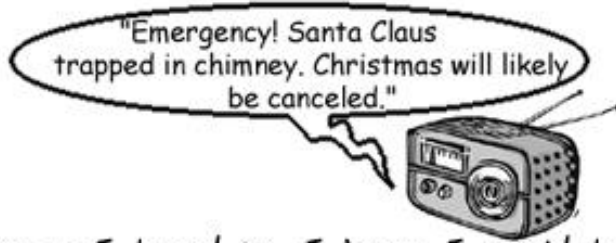

Christmas Elves on Strike!

We're on strike. That's it. We are tired of working day after day with no breaks and no holidays. We are fed up with working for zero wages. We're sick of the cramped, confined sleeping and working quarters at the workshop. And most of all, we refuse to wear these silly, uncomfortable elf suits anymore. We, the Union of Workshop Elves, refuse to make any more toys until the following demands are met:

SAVING SANTA

The alert came over the radio:

As soon as I heard it, I knew I would have to do something—and do it fast. I quickly gathered my gear and headed out the door . . .
